About Us

A trading house with a domestic food book. Rice export is the line we are opening

Most first mails to an Indian rice seller mix three problems: the grade on WhatsApp is not the grade in the container, the name on the website is not the name on the Importer-Exporter Code, and nobody will say whether they own a mill.

M/S RJ COMMERCIALS is built to answer those three. We are a proprietorship. We buy from licensed mills. We sell on our contract. We do not pretend the mill is ours.

Our Story

The family traded food commodities from Champua long before this letterhead existed. In May 2022 Rustam Jawed put the firm in his own name: Importer-Exporter Code, Goods and Services Tax, Central Food Safety licence, Udyam. That book is domestic wholesale and distribution — cereals, oils, sweeteners. The next step is not a new company. It is the same company shipping Non-Basmati Parboiled Rice under the same legal name. We are not a six-year export house with forty flags on the homepage. We are a working Odisha trader putting export paper in order so the first containers can be defended at customs and at the surveyor's table.

Parboiled rice, also called converted rice, easy-cook rice, sella rice, and miniket (as predominantly called in West Bengal and Odisha in India, and in Bangladesh) is rice that has been partially boiled in the husk. The three basic steps of parboiling are soaking, steaming and drying. These steps make the rice easier to process by hand, while also boosting its nutritional profile, changing its texture, and making it more resistant to weevils. The treatment is practiced in many parts of the world.
Parboiling drives nutrients, especially thiamine, from the bran to the endosperm, hence parboiled white rice is mostly nutritionally similar to brown rice.Given the pale tan color that results from these bran components, parboiled rice is sometimes called saffron sella.

Sourcing

We do not run a plant. We buy from licensed Indian mills and take mill certificates of analysis before we stuff. Lots are identified by mill, variety, broken percent and bag marks. If a mill cannot meet the written spec, we do not ship that mill's grain under a 5% contract.

Quality

- The contract number is the grade. "Export quality" is not a specification.
- Moisture, broken percent and damaged grain are tested on the stuffed lot, not only on a courier sample.
- Sample on request after the buyer's company name and port are on the mail. The sample is not the container.
- Phytosanitary certificate and fumigation on the sealed lot.
- Third-party survey when the contract says so.
